

CHILD THOUGHT TO BE KIDNAPPED IS FOUND IN WOODS

Inmate of Orphanage Who Disappeared When Sent For Water Had Been Hiding In Woods All Day—Returned to Orphanage.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., Nov. 24.—Vergie Blandon, a thirteen-year-old girl from the Christian Orphans' Home, Louisville, who has been living with Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Dorsey at Johnsonville, whom it was feared had been kidnapped when she failed to return from the spring where she had been sent to get a bucket of water, was found near Wardsville by Chris Jenkins.

Bores of citizens and Deputy Sheriff Hilary Yocom and John G. Bond scoured the countrysides all day long searching for the missing child.

The girl was sent to the spring about a quarter of a mile from the house shortly after sunrise to get a bucket of water. Considerable time elapsed and she failed to return. Someone was sent to the spring to look for her and the empty bucket was found sitting near the spring but there were no traces of the orphan.

Searching parties were organized and two deputy sheriffs were sent to the scene immediately after her absence had been reported. The officers questioned the neighbors and the children at the school house in an effort to secure information.

The child when found said that she had hidden herself in the woods all day and had waited until nightfall when she planned to run away, according to information given out by Deputy Sheriff Sam Mitchell.

The orphan child was taken to the Dorsey home several months ago but trouble with her eyes necessitated her return to the orphanage for their treatment. When the defective eyes had been treated she was taken back by the Dorsey family a few weeks ago.

Mr. Jenkins found the missing child by the roadside near Wardsville after twilight had fallen and she was returned to the Dorsey home where she spent the night.

She was taken back to the Louisville orphanage by Mr. Dorsey.

BROMLEY GIRL QUESTIONED ON DEATH OF CHICAGOAN

Bromley Woman Who Was a Close Friend of Chicago Millionaire Found Murdered Can Give No Clews.

Dispatches from Chicago told Saturday of the mysterious murder of "Handsome Joe" Lanus, millionaire auto dealer and bachelor, who was a friend of Miss Mabel Gray of River road, Bromley, Ky.

Miss Gray was shocked when informed of Lanus' death. She saw him month ago in Chicago, she said.

Lanus was found dying in his garage and salesrooms Friday night. He had been shot twice in the back with his own revolver. A long yellow glove, evidently a woman's lay beside him.

Lanus visited his family here for a few days two years ago, Miss Gray said. She saw him often while she was in Chicago this summer, she said.

Miss Alice McArdle, Lanus' bookkeeper, told Chicago police she understood Miss Gray and her employer were engaged, but Miss Gray emphasized that such a report was untrue.

"We went together a good deal in Chicago this summer, but it was understood we were only friends," she said. "I have no information that would furnish a clew to the murderer."

Police quizzed several Chicago women about Lanus' affairs after he was found dying. He did not recover consciousness after being shot. Lanus was a frequent cabaret visitor and well known in Chicago's night life, police said.

"Handsome Joe" didn't like women individually," Miss McArdle told police according to dispatches. "He was not satisfied unless he had a whole bunch of them around him."

NASHVILLE'S COUNCILMEN OUST MAYOR.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 25.—For the second time in its history Nashville, last night, experienced a change in city government, through the medium of the ouster law. Felix Z. Wilson, for 18 months mayor, was removed summarily by the City Council. Percy Sharpe, former member of the county court and business man, immediately was elected to the place. No charges were brought against Wilson, but his downfall followed refusal of the council to confirm his appointees as members of the Board of Education. He recently expelled five members of the city detective force who were charged with pernicious political activity against the mayor during his election campaign.

Cochran, who would not hear the case because he was interested in public utilities in Maysville, Ky., with which J. J. Weaver, president of the Ideal Supply Company, is connected.

CITY SUES CIRCUIT CLERK TO COLLECT ON FINE

Section of New Dry Enforcement Law of the State to Be Tested in Suit Brought late Friday By City.

The City of Maysville brought suit in the Mason Circuit Court late Friday against Circuit Clerk James B. Key to collect a fine of three hundred dollars which was assessed against William Edgar in City Court on a liquor charge.

The case was appealed by Edgar to Circuit Court and in that court the City Court was affirmed and the fine paid by Edgar to the Circuit Clerk.

Because of a conflict of laws, the Circuit Clerk has refused to turn the money over to the city until the law has been passed upon and the suit is interpreted this section of the new state dry law. So far as is known this is the first suit that has been brought under this section of the new law in the state and will be watched with much interest.

CANNOT GIVE AWAY A DRINK.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 23.—The final in the move to make the giving away of a drink of intoxicating liquor an offense under the 1920 prohibition law was written today when Judge Gus Thomas in the Court of Appeals overruled the motion of W. W. Simpson, of Butler county, for a rehearing of his case.

Simpson was charged with giving away a drink of liquor and the findings of the Butler circuit court which declared the gift of a drink of liquor a violation of the 1920 prohibition law was sustained. In the motion for the rehearing Simpson asked for a modified opinion and this motion was dismissed also by Judge Thomas.

BURTONVILLE HOME NARROW. LY ESCAPES FLAMES.

The prompt action of the bucket brigade succeeded in extinguishing the flames though at one time it was thought the house could not be saved. Damage all covered by insurance.

SENATOR JOHNSON OF CALIFORNIA

Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, in spite of the efforts made by the Democrats—and certain sinister forces which have no politics except such as are based on selfish interests—to defeat him for re-election, swept the state by a tremendous majority and proved once more the hold which he has retained so long upon the confidence and affections of the people of California.

The work which Senator Johnson accomplished as governor has been largely forgotten by the people of the United States generally, but it can never be forgotten by his constituents. They remember the death-grip which certain powerful, and greedy, and unscrupulous corporations had upon the state, and the slavery out of which Hiram Johnson led them, smashing the machine to bits and "stamping the residue with his feet." They recall the administrations which followed, the remarkable constructive work which was done, the complete reformation of government that took place, and the progress and prosperity which have succeeded. It was the work of one man of iron will, of inflexible courage, and of unblemished integrity whose voice shook down the house of graft as the ram's horns overthrew the walls of Jericho.

Arthur Brisbane suggests in The Leader that Johnson will some day arrive at the White House, and that 1924 is not unlikely to see him in the way.

At any rate he will bear watching. In the primaries in 1920, without organization, to speak of, and without money, he carried state after state in which he personally campaigned, and at Chicago, had the masses of the common people been able to vote in the convention as they cheered on the streets for him, he would have been nominated.

He does not seem, however, to be in the public mind today as much as he was two or three years ago. The people are fickle. It may be that some other favorite will crowd Johnson out. But if the voters are in the state of mind in 1924 which they are now in, it seems certain that they will want a man of Johnson's type, aggressive, bold, progressive, democratic and capable of grappling with great problems of reform without gloves.

Time alone, however, will tell what mood the nation may be in when the nominations are made once more. It is altogether possible that by that time the conservatism and constitutional methods of Mr. Harding, and the constructive things which he is doing in his quiet but persistent way, will make their proper appeal, and that no one else will be thought of.—Lexington Leader.

ANOTHER DEMOCRAT ON THE PRESIDENT

The Lexington Leader recently quoted the eulogy on President Harding pronounced by Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia. Now another Democrat, distinguished as a leader in Ohio politics, and former chairman of the State Central Committee over a period of twelve years during which Pattison, Harmon and Cox were all elected to the governorship, has said some very complimentary things about the President.

He declares that the election of a Republican Senator and 16 of the 22 Congressmen in Ohio must be regarded as an emphatic endorsement of the administration, and that it will be so interpreted throughout the country. The "most sensible, level-headed population to be found in America," he says, determined that the President had faced a tremendous task, and that he had measured up to a high standard of efficiency in meeting the demands of his office.

Mr. Garber makes the following remarkable statement:

"That President Harding has accomplished much will be conceded by any unbiased observer. He first chased the vast hordes of loafers off the government pay roll, inaugurated a budget system under Brigadier General Dawes; removed the so-called nuisance taxes upon manufacturers and business men, so industries would have something left with which to extend their operations, thus millions of men and women who were idle now have employment; has collected in the last 30 days the first money, amounting to $500,000, from a war contractor; collected the first two interest installments of $100,000,000 on the British debt; has plans under way for collection instead of cancellation of the entire foreign debt, amounting to $11,000,000,000, and instead of America losing this it will gradually and ultimately find its way back to the United States, to be applied on the national debt, notwithstanding all of the British and foreign propaganda and English and French lectures."

These things are matters of common knowledge. They are doubly impressive, perhaps, when they are set forth by a staunch and loyal Democrat of Mr. Garber's standing in his party. Like Senator Smith he believes, however, in being just and in standing by the President regardless of partisanship when he is doing all that a man in the circumstances can do to straighten out the national economy and the foreign relations of a nation after the most ruinous war in history.

There was not only no verdict in Ohio against the President, but there was none in the country at large, in spite of the losses sustained by the Republican in Congress.

A SHORT AND EASY WAY WITH SPEEDERS

Judge Charles L. Bartlett, of Detroit, the other day ordered to the Detroit House of Correction 28 persons convicted of speeding, passing sentences of from two to thirty days upon them. Before they were taken to jail, however, he had them all escorted through the wards of the Acceiving Hospital to look upon the children lying there who have been injured, and in many cases permanently crippled, by automobiles, the results of reckless driving.

Many of the men were sullen and bitter when they left the court room, but there were few who did not soften and become audibly penitent before they had seen the last of the thirty boys and girls lying helpless in the hospital, and some of the broke down and wept.

The experience will never be forgotten, and it ought to be repeated a million times a year in this country where the loss of life as a result of reckless driving is constantly mounting, and has reached proportions that are shocking.

Judge Bartlett also announced, when the prisoners were led away to serve out their time, that in future the penalties would be doubled in every case of conviction, both with respect to fines and imprisonment.

Detroit will certainly see less speeding, less killing and maiming, hereafter as the result of the stern action of this just and fearless judge.

Let the good work go on.

IF WE ONLY KNEW.

(By SUE BRIGSBY KNIGHT)
If we only knew that the clouds of today:
Would be chased by tomorrow's sun;

That the shadows stretching across our way,
Is the darkness which comes before dawn;
Life would be sweeter and brighter,
whether joys were many or few,
And faith our burdens would lighten,
If we only knew.

Could we see in our many sorrows,
the blessings which come in disguise;
Could we look o'er the realm of shadows, to where the sunlight lies;
We would not faint or fall by the way as we tread life's pathway through;

But would gain strength from each bitter day,
If we only knew.

Nervous and Dizzy, Everything Seemed to Worry Me. How I Got Well

Larwill, Indiana.—"My back was so bad I could not do my washing. I was always tired out and had no ambition, was nervous and dizzy and everything seemed to worry me and I had awful pains in my right side. I felt badly about four years and could not do my work as it should have been done. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised so much and it did so many people good that I began to take it myself. I am feeling fine now and everyone tells me they never saw me looking so well. I live on a farm, do all my work, and have three little girls to take care of. I am recommending this medicine to my friends and know it will help them if they use it like I do."—Mrs. HERBERT LONG, R. R. 3, Box 7, Larwill, Indiana.

Many women keep their work when it is a great effort. They are always tired out and have no ambition. When you are in this condition give it prompt attention.

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it is especially adapted to correct such trouble, as it did for Mrs. Long.

New York. — If you come into our city some dark night and think you see a skeleton confronting you at the street corner, don't be startled. It's just a traffic policeman in his new white harness. As an outgrowth of an accident, several night ago, in which an officer was killed by a speeding motorist, who didn't see him until he was right upon him. Deputy Commissioner Harris has devised a white harness to safeguard the lives of the traffic squad. It consists of a belt and closed pieces over the shoulders and is visible for several blocks.

But Mr. Zizenan proved that under scientific definition, a league might be 4.6 miles or it might be only 2.4, and that consequently even though the steamer was only nine miles out, it was more than three leagues under one definition. He won his case. And now the lawyers interested in similar cases are turning their attention to marine law rather than to a study of the prohibitory measures.

"The Lucky One," the new play by A. A. Milne, which has just been produced by the Theater Guild, is the tragedy of a young man afflicted with charm. Are women more insistently discontent on a job than men? Always it has been the theory among political organizations, so far as I have discerned, that you couldn't bother people with politics more than a month or so a year, and that inevitably, everything connected with a campaign had to be done in the last few weeks before election. We had an election two weeks ago; and this morning I have a call from my district leader to begin working tomorrow on a plan of raising money for our next campaign.

GREEK CABINET QUILTS: SITUATION AGAIN COMPLICATED

Athens, Nov. 24.—The Greek cabinet has resigned. The political situation is extremely complicated. The military authorities are taking an uncompromising attitude regarding the former ministers who are on trial charged with treason.

Since the defeat of Greece by the Turks there has been dissension in Greece, with the Republicans and Monarchs seeking supremacy. The Revolutionary Committee, which has been in charge of the situation since the overthrow of King Constantine, has ruled with a strong hand.
